TALKING POINTS ON MEETING WITH [REDACTED] OF MSF

B6

- o I met this morning with [REDACTED] and other representatives of Medecins Sans Frontieres who were recently in Goma. They expressed grave concern about the situation in the Rwandan refugee camps in Zaire.
- o MSF has five concerns: (1) the genocide itself, (2) preparations for a new war, (3) security for humanitarian staff and for refugees, (4) control and management of the camps by the former leadership of Rwanda, (5) diversion of food aid from those who are most in need.
- o They face the moral dilemma by having to deal with the leaders of the genocide, who now control the refugee camps. They would like to bypass those leaders in order to target the distribution of aid.
- o The security of the camps is their most immediate concern.
- o They also see the need for the judicial system to bring those who are guilty to trial.
- o I relayed to them that the Council shares their concerns, that we will be voting to establish the War Crimes Tribunal on Monday, and that we were awaiting a report from the Secretary-General with his recommendations for dealing with the security situation in the refugee camps.
